

1

Multiple Choice 6 points

What commitments are necessary and sufficient for counting as a "dualist"?

- (a) believing that some thinkers have souls, though perhaps others do not
- (b) believing that some mental properties are impossible for anyone to have without a soul
- (c) believing that you are identical to your soul
- (d) believing that you will continue to exist after your body dies

- only (b)
- (a) and (c)
- (a) and (d)
- (b) and (c) and (d)
- only (d)
- I don't know

2

Multiple Choice 6 points

Which of the following principles are statements of (or equivalent to) Leibniz's Law?

- (a) if x and y are one and the same thing, then they have all the same properties
- (b) if x has some property that y lacks, then they not one and the same thing
- (c) if x and y have all the same properties, then they are one and the same thing

- only (b)
- (a) and (b)
- (b) and (c)
- all of (a), (b), and (c)
- I don't know